Colorado State ASCSU Speaker of the Senate, Isabel Brown, named Students For Opioid Solutions Campus Captain

Fort Collins, Colorado. Today, Students For Opioid Solutions, a grassroots movement to prevent opioid deaths on college campuses, has announced Isabel Brown, a student and Speaker of Colorado State's ASCSU Senate at Colorado State as its campus captain. As SOS's campus captain her duty is to guide SOS's life saving legislation through the Student Government.

This legislation will reduce the number of deaths from opioid overdoses on college campuses to zero through a five part process: 1) Pass student government legislation calling upon school administrators to require that residential life and campus police officers receive training in the recognition of an opioid overdose. 2) Encourage residential life staff to receive training in the use of naloxone and either carry it or have reasonably quick access. 3) Ensure that schools record and report the number of opioid overdoses and deaths in their annual public drug and alcohol report. 4) Ensure amnesty for students who report overdoses. 5) Enact a Good Samaritan clause protecting students who come to the aid of someone suffering from an opioid overdose.

"We are absolutely ecstatic to have Isabel on our team. She is a hard worker and dedicated to the cause" -Gerald Fraas, President of Students for Opioid Solutions

"As a pre-med student, Isabel has devoted her life to saving lives and making the world a better place. Today, she continues her goal of making the world a better place by representing

Students for Opioid Solutions at Colorado State. ” - Charles “Jonah” Wendt, Executive Director and National Field Director of Students for Opioid Solutions.
